CPF is stepping up supply chain management and accelerating the distribution of food products across all sales channels in response to heavy rainfall and flooding in Bangkok, ensuring continued deliveries and sufficient food supplies for consumers.

Following heavy rainfall and flooding in several areas of Bangkok, demand for essential food and consumer products has increased. Charoen Pokphand Foods Public Company Limited (CPF) is continuing to manage and strengthen its food distribution operations to ensure products are supplied across all sales channels and that consumers have continued access to essential food throughout the situation.

Mr. Prasit Boondoungprasert, Chief Executive Officer, said that as people are affected by heavy rainfall and flooding, CPF places great importance on maintaining the continuity of the food supply system, particularly the delivery of food products. “We are closely monitoring the situation and demand in each area, while coordinating with our partners and distribution channels to ensure adequate food supplies and continued access for consumers.”

As a food producer, CPF is closely managing its supply chain amid heavy rainfall and flooding in several areas, with a focus on maintaining continuity in food production and deliveries to accommodate increased consumer demand in certain areas.

The Company is closely monitoring product demand, transportation routes, and constraints in each area in order to appropriately plan production, product preparation, and distribution in response to changing conditions. CPF is also supporting the supply of food products to wholesalers, retailers, stores, and other distribution channels to ensure that products continue to reach consumers.

CPF is working closely with partners across the food supply chain to maintain continuity in production and distribution, particularly during periods when travel and transportation systems in certain areas face limitations. The Company also places the highest priority on the safety of employees, workers, and all relevant parties throughout the process.

CPF will continue to closely monitor the situation and adjust its production and distribution plans in line with prevailing conditions and public demand. This is to help ensure that “food continues to reach consumers without interruption” and to contribute to food security for society in all circumstances.

CP Vietnam and Bach Mai Hospital enter into a long-term partnership for the benefit of patients and the community.

From healthcare and voluntary blood donation to supporting patients in difficult circumstances, CP Vietnam and Bach Mai Hospital are expanding their cooperation in many health and social activities, aiming for long-term programs for patients and the community.

On September 15th, CP Livestock Corporation of Vietnam and Bach Mai Hospital signed a Memorandum of Understanding to expand cooperation in various health and social fields, focusing on healthcare for workers, community health care, social work, and support for patients in difficult circumstances.

The signing ceremony of the Memorandum of Understanding took place in the presence of Mr. Soopakij Chearavanont, Chairman of CP Group, during the CP Group's leadership team's working visit to Vietnam from September 14–16. CP Vietnam and Bach Mai Hospital signed a memorandum of cooperation in the presence of Mr. Soopakij Chearavanont, Chairman of CP Group, and Ms. Do Thi Thu Thao, President of the Vietnam Red Cross Society .

Expanding cooperation for patients and the community.

The memorandum of understanding establishes a framework for long-term cooperation between CP Vietnam and Bach Mai Hospital in many meaningful and practical programs for workers, patients, and the community specifically, in the healthcare sector, the two sides plan to cooperate in organizing periodic health check-ups, specialist examinations, screenings, consultations, vaccinations, and other appropriate healthcare programs for officials, employees, and other individuals registered and referred by the Vietnamese government.

For community-oriented activities, the two sides will cooperate in promoting voluntary blood donation; communicating, raising awareness, and advocating for the donation of tissues and organs on a voluntary basis and in compliance with the law. CP Vietnam and Bach Mai Hospital will also cooperate in implementing community health care activities such as examinations, consultations, screenings, and health education; programs on nutrition, prevention of non-communicable diseases, and mental health. Cooperation will also focus on humanitarian programs, relief efforts, disaster response, epidemic control, and medical support in disadvantaged areas.

The collaboration also focuses on social work and supporting patients in difficult circumstances. Depending on the specific program, CP Vietnam may provide meals, essential supplies, essential expenses, and other appropriate forms of assistance; participate in the hospital's charitable and social welfare programs, as well as initiatives aimed at improving care, living conditions, and providing emotional support for patients and their families.

Associate Professor Dr. Vu Van Giap, Deputy Director of Bach Mai Hospital, shared that the hospital highly appreciates the practical contributions of CP Vietnam in community activities, especially in promoting blood donation campaigns.

According to the Deputy Director of Bach Mai Hospital, the signing of the Memorandum of Understanding with the message "Joining hands for community health" marks a new development in the relationship between the two units, shifting from individual collaborative activities to a long-term cooperation framework with specific goals and implementation mechanisms.

Mr. Pawalit Ua-amornwanit, President of CP Vietnam Corporation, speaks at the signing ceremony of the Memorandum of Understanding with Bach Mai Hospital. "The Memorandum of Understanding on cooperation between CP Vietnam and Bach Mai Hospital affirms a long-term commitment to public health, social responsibility, and the humanitarian values that both units pursue," said Mr. Pawalit Ua-amornwanit.

The Memorandum of Cooperation with Bach Mai Hospital continues CP Vietnam's long-term efforts to fulfill its corporate social responsibility, aiming for sustainable values for the people and the community. In the healthcare sector, for many years, the company has partnered with the National Institute of Hematology and Blood Transfusion in the "Red Journey," organizing voluntary blood donation drives and contributing to the collection of over 1 million units of blood.

CP Vietnam has also been a partner in the "Journey of Young Doctors Following Uncle Ho's Teachings, Volunteering for Community Health" since 2015. CP Vietnam volunteers support medical staff at clinics, contributing to healthcare for former youth volunteers, families of policy beneficiaries, and people in difficult circumstances.
